

About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHEUS T.

MAIL: This department has received a nice letter from Robert Schindler of Harrisburg Route 2, about the column Monday on trying to get industry into the area. Mr. Schindler is definitely interested in the move although he is a semi-invalid who has been confined to his home since 1932. He has an idea which I'm passing on to somebody who knows more about the situation than I. It deals with stone quarries, rock crushers and roads. "Most of our roads can stand more rock on them," he writes.

IN THE SAME MAIL I received a letter that must have been mis-sent.

"As a man, accustomed to the finer things," this letter starts out, "you'll be interested in learning about the new Esquire Club."

The letter defines the club as "an international credit and courtesy plan organized to enable you to say 'charge it' at the fine restaurants, entertainment houses and shops across the country."

Pretty good, et wot?

And where are some of these places I could go and say, "Charge it?"

"Such outstanding places as Cafe Chambord and Colony in New York, Fritzel's and Chez Patee in Chicago, the Occidental in Washington, D. C., the Mocambo in Los Angeles, Old Original Bookbinder's in Philadelphia, the Sans Souci in Miami Beach and Mader's in Milwaukee."

Is that all?

Nope.

"In addition," the letter continues, "simply present your Esquire Club card to charge a fine box of cigars... lodging at an Esquire-recommended hotel... a chauffeured limousine... a chartered plane... the rental of a shiny new car... books, candy, records, dance instruction at Arthur Murray studios... even the servicing of your yacht!"

Wow! That's almost as good as Queen for a Day.

What's the dues? One can become a charter member for only five bucks! Let's off for the Sans Souci and that yacht!

FROM SLEUTH 14RXX: Jack Belbas, whose hobby is art, has been in the big dough of late. He made a doughnut alligator.

Yearning for a trip to Florida, Jack got to thinking about the sunshine and fish and alligators while making up dough for doughnuts. That was enough. He rolled out a long hunk of dough, gave it a pinch and a tug here and there and came up with an alligator, which he baked, then put in little pieces of marshmallows for teeth.

See you later, alligator.

Illinois Labor Group Endorses Candidates

CHICAGO (AP) — An Illinois labor group today endorsed President Eisenhower for renomination by the Republicans and Adlai E. Stevenson as the Democratic presidential candidate.

The endorsement was announced by a joint board composed of the executive board of the Illinois State Federation of Labor and representative of the railroad brotherhoods and the United Mine Workers. CIO officials sat in as "observers."

The board endorsed State Rep. Richard Stengel (D-Rock Island) for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator. It made no comment on the Republican picture, where Sen. Everett M. Dirksen seeks renomination.

Others who won endorsement in the April 10 primary:

For governor — Republican incumbent William G. Stratton, Democrat Herbert C. Paschen.

For attorney general — Republican incumbent Latham Castle, Democrat James O. O'Keefe.

For auditor — Republican incumbent Orville E. Hodge, Democrat Michael J. Howlett.

ARRESTED IN BUS DISPUTE—Police have completed their arrest of Negro leaders involved in an 11-week boycott of segregated busses in Montgomery, Ala. Nationwide 'Spiritual' Support Promised Alabama Negro Leaders MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Negro leaders facing trial for boycotting segregated city busses today received a promise of nationwide "spiritual" support that may ripen into a "Ghandi-like" demonstration.

Thousands of Negroes continued their 11-week boycott despite the threat of jail terms for 90 leaders, including 26 ministers, who were arraigned Friday. Trials were set for the week of March 19.

Alabama officials called for grand jury action against the boycotters after the Negroes, in weeks of negotiations, refused to drop their demands for better seating arrangements on the segregated busses.

The boycott was launched on Dec. 5 in protest against the arrests of a Negro seamstress for refusing to move to a section of a city bus reserved for Negroes. She was fined $10.

Rus Policy Protested

The Negroes objected to having to stand on buses while seats remain vacant in the white section. They sought a first-come, first-served policy but city officials said this would violate segregation laws.

A group of New York ministers meeting Friday night in protest against the arrests planned a one-hour sitdown by Negroes throughout the nation next March 28, designated "national deliverance day of prayer."

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY), who organized the meeting in New York, said that "between the hours of 2 p. m. and 3 p. m. on that day, no Negro man, woman or child shall work or attend school."

Powell said the present plans do not call for a "Ghandi-type" passive resistance campaign but said such a movement might be used in the future, along with possible spread of the boycott.

Prayer Meeting Set

The Rev. M. L. King, one of the boycott leaders, announced a "prayer meeting" will be held Monday night similar to one in which an estimated 3,000 Negroes two nights ago planned their "passive resistance" campaign here.

King, accused of leading the boycott, said he received a telegram from Dr. Ralph Bunche, Negro diplomat who won the Nobel Peace Prize, calling the boycott "an inspiring chapter in the history of human dignity."

"I know that you will stand firm in the face of threats and resort to police state methods of intimidation," Bunche said.

TORNADO HITS IN ILLINOIS: SIX KILLED, SCORES HURT

Douglas Moves Area Hearings to Johnston City

Hears More Evidence On Economic Ills Of Southern Illinois

By ROBERT ULLRICH
United Press Staff Correspondent
JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) heard more evidence today on the economic ills of Illinois mining communities.

Douglas brought his Senate Labor subcommittee hearings here this morning and was to go to Carbondale later today. He has scheduled hearings at Rosiclare and Mounds Monday.

Douglas opened the Illinois hearings Friday on his bill to provide government help for recovery of economically depressed areas. He heard civic, business, labor and education leaders of Macoupin and Montgomery counties at hearings in Benld and Litchfield.

The Douglas bill would make 200 million dollars in government loans available to public bodies declared depressed areas. These loans would provide low-interest rate funds for building needed public facilities and industrial plants.

Douglas also would require government work to be shifted to the depressed areas if possible, would extend unemployment compensation, provide more job training, and give new plants that located in the areas the benefit of fast tax write-offs.

The bill would also require government work to be shifted to the depressed areas if possible, would extend unemployment compensation, provide more job training, and give new plants that located in the areas the benefit of fast tax write-offs.

The areas would have to have 9 per cent of the labor force unemployed for 18 months or 6 per cent unemployed for three years to qualify as "depressed."

At Benld and Litchfield, witnesses told how the closing of the coal mines and war contract plants have swelled the unemployment and relief rolls in the two-county area. Many of the coal miners without jobs are in the 45-65 age group, too old for employment at industrial plants in the St. Louis-southwestern Illinois area and too young for social security, the witnesses said.

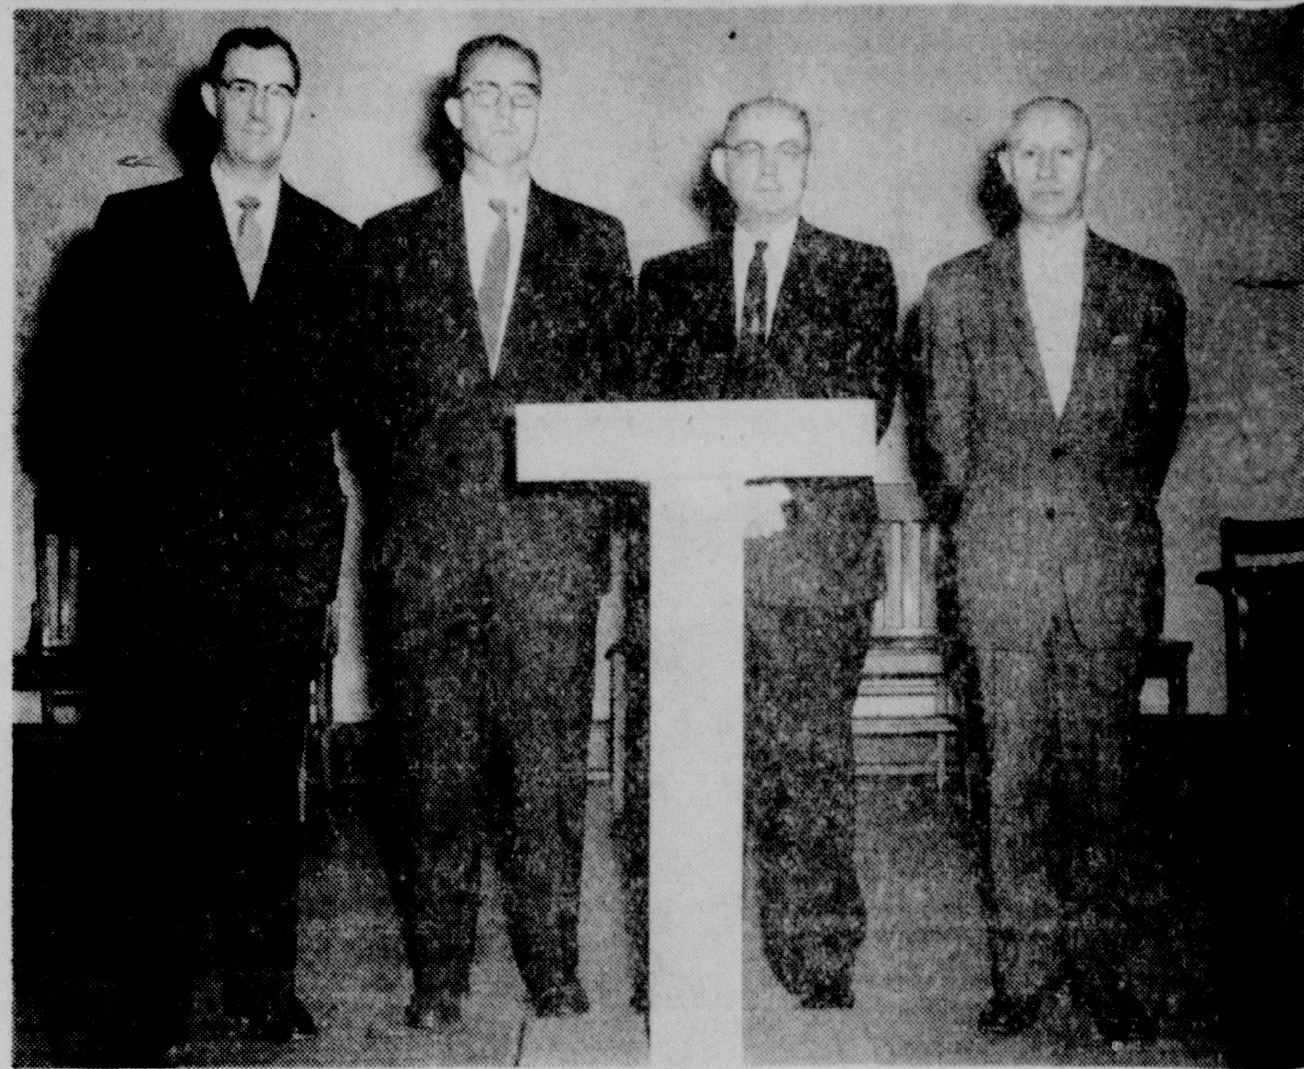

Witnesses said the once-thriving coal mining towns are losing their youth through lack of opportunities.

Hughes, Price to Testify at Johnston City Douglas Hearing

Eugene Hughes, board member, Progressive Mine Workers of America, and Guy Price, business agent and general organizer of the Retail Clerks, have been invited by Senator Douglas to appear before the Senate Investigating Committee who are holding hearings at Johnston City today at 2 p. m. They are going to testify as to the true conditions of the decline in coal mining and the unemployment in Saline county.

Hughes stated that there are approximately 680 miners employed at present in Saline county when at one time there were in the neighborhood of 3,000.

Democrats Hit Dulles Statement On Soviet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats today called Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' statement that western unity has caused Russia to change its policies "almost absurd."

They also took issue with his explanation of the shipment of 18 U. S. tanks to Saudi Arabia and his plea to keep the Arab-Israeli dispute out of election-year politics.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said Russia is shifting its policies to "supplement what they have done before." He called Dulles' reason for the shift "almost absurd."

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) called Dulles' statement "hard to believe."

Both are members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which Dulles appeared before for nearly four hours Friday.

Humphrey also complained that Dulles left unsettled "what is going to be done to protect Israel's territorial sovereignty." He said he isn't "satisfied" with Dulles' testimony regarding the Middle East dispute.

Committee Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said the Arab-Israeli dispute "can't" be kept out of the 1956 campaign.

"You can't expect everything to be withheld," he said, apparently referring to previous Dulles pleas to keep foreign policy out of the campaign.

Dulles told the committee that Russia's 30-year-old Stalinist policies of violence and intolerance against non-Soviet governments have "failed." He said the old Soviet policies have ceased to produce results because of the unity of the free world.

He said now the Soviets are turning to a U. S.-style foreign aid program and "we can beat them at this game."

Dulles said use of the Arab-Israeli dispute in the fall political campaign might endanger peace in the Middle East and the future of Israel itself.

Confederate Vet Stricken; One of Three Surviving

GATE CITY, Va. (AP) — John Salling, one of the three surviving Confederate veterans, has been stricken with virus pneumonia. He is 109.

Doctors said Salling was in "sat-isfactory" condition but they declined comment on his chances to survive.

He was being cared for at home by his daughter and a family doctor who said efforts were being made to "quickly check the disease." He was stricken Wednesday.

The two other surviving Confederate veterans are William A. Lundy, 107, of Laurel Hill, Fla., and Walter W. Williams, 109, of Franklin, Tex.

Salling, active until he broke a leg two years ago, had been in a wheel chair since that time.

There is one Union veteran of the Civil War alive, Albert Woolson, of Duluth, Minn., who also turned 109 Feb. 11.

Salling never saw combat in the big war. He served in Virginia as an expert on the mining of salt peter, a basic ingredient of the Confederate army's gunpowder.

His political persuasion was Democratic, he said, "until Ike came along." He predicted recently that Mr. Eisenhower could remain in the White House "as long as he likes."

They will leave from Spence Air Base at Moultrie, Ga., about 43 miles from Humphrey's Milestone Plantation where the Eisenhower's have been visiting since Feb. 15.

No Set Appointments

Mr. Eisenhower had no scheduled appointments at the White House this afternoon, but he probably will spend some time in conference with such staff members as Sherman Adams, the assistant to the president, and other officials in his inner circle.

The president, according to the latest indications, was expected to announce his political intentions sometime next week, although he was not publicly committed to a specific date. He has a news conference tentatively scheduled for next Wednesday, but the hour has not been set.

Many of the president's friends and political adherents were more convinced than ever that he would consent to running again.

More evidence to this effect was available in Washington GOP circles than in Thomasville.

Mrs. Chris Drone, 86, Former Resident Of Equality, Dies

Mrs. Alice Drone, 86, widow of Chris Drone, formerly of Equality, died at 5 a. m. Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence (Marie) Lawler in East St. Louis.

Other children surviving are Mrs. R. R. (Virginia) Rodgers, East St. Louis, who has been with the U. S. courts for 34 years, Henry Drone, East St. Louis, and Mrs. Ray (Ann) Berkel, Eldorado.

Funeral services will be Monday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Elizabeth's church. The body will be taken directly to St. Joseph's cemetery in Ridgway for burial around 1 p. m. The casket will not be opened at the cemetery.

Mrs. Drone had been in ill health for seven years but death was unexpected. She had resided in East St. Louis for over 20 years.

Worst Damage Reported at Summerfield

Weather Bureau Reports Danger Over at 7 a. m.

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Six persons were killed and at least a score injured today by tornado winds that skipped across central Illinois and Missouri counties.

The worst disaster appeared to be at Summerfield, Ill., where three persons were known dead, four blocks of buildings were "lev-eled" and the St. Clair county sheriff's office reported "more people may be missing."

The dead were identified as August Ganz, 64; Miss Elizabeth Krumrey, an elderly woman, and 16-year-old Darrell Butler.

An elderly couple, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Freese, were killed at Imbs Station, and Willard Holloway Jr., 4, died of injuries suffered at his home in Centerville.

Thunderstorms Accompany Winds

The Weather Bureau described the winds as tornadoic, and Scott Air Force Base clocked them at 80 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau at Lambert-St. Louis Airport reported that severe thunderstorms showed up on radarscopes between midnight and 6 a. m.

Indiana state police said twisters hit near three Indiana towns before 5 a. m. CST. They said they struck at 4:26 a. m. at Martinsville, 4:29 a. m. at Shelbyville, and 4:32 a. m. south of Franklin. State police said there was property damage but no death reported.

The Weather Bureau reported that tornado danger in southern Illinois and Indiana was over at 7 a. m.

Six persons were injured at both Imbs Station and Summerfield, and winds that ripped through Mehlville, Lemay and Affton, at suburbs of St. Louis in south St. Louis county, left at least nine injured by flying glass and falling trees and poles.

Hits Near Lawrenceville

The American Red Cross office at Springfield, Ill., reported heavy damage also at Trenton in Clinton county, and Millstadt in St. Clair county, Illinois.

A small tornado also hit Pinkstaff, Ill., and destroyed a church and a grade school, both wooden, before it hit Pinkstaff, leaving shattered telephone poles and fallen trees in its quarter-mile wide path.

Ernest Davis, his wife and their two children escaped injury when the tornado rolled their trailer home for 60 feet at Pinkstaff. Mrs. Oliver Culter escaped injury when the wind blew one end of their home and blew the section into a neighbor's garden.

About one-third of the 14,000 families here were without electric power.

The tornado skipped from Duplo, Ill., about three miles south of St. Louis and six miles west of here, east to Imbs Station, then turned northeasterly, skirting Belleville's western outskirts and dropping again at Summerfield, about 17 miles northeast of here.

Damage "Terrific"

Scott Air Force Base sent 50 men to Summerfield where the sheriff's office said a four-block area was leveled. Civil defense forces were mobilized.

Labor unions in the county were organizing a 50-man aid group.

County Jailor Joe Koch here said the first victims were reported from Imbs Station. He said the Holloway's daughter, Sharon, 2, was hurt and hospitalized.

Police cruised through the city looking for injured here, but said hours after the storm they had discovered none. However, they said damage was "terrific." The roof of one house was found four blocks from the building. A "wide-wide" screen at an outdoor movie was blown down.

The father of the dead Holloway boy told a nurse at St. Mary's hospital that "every house I could see was flattened."

Illinois Farmers Earn Nearly Quarter Billion from Soybeans

By WARREN H. STROTHER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Illinois farmers are annually earning nearly a quarter billion dollars from the state's second largest crop—a crop almost unknown here 40 years ago.

The unparalleled growth of the soybean industry, which has really taken place almost entirely in the last 25 years, is now seldom mentioned, farmers are so accustomed to having it as a cash crop.

Illinois farmers harvested 3,370-000 acres of the beans in 1935, producing a record 100,510,000 bushels valued at more than 216 million dollars.

Another 100,000 acres or so were cut for hay, grazed or plowed under.

Yet in 1914, fewer than 500 acres of soybeans were planted in the state.

Nourishes the Soil

Illinois has taken the lead in development of the crop, first as a legume for crop rotation, then as an important raw material for food, oil and fiber, and a host of industrial products.

Researchers at the University of Illinois and the U. S. regional soybean laboratory at Champaign were among the first to recognize the potentialities of the Oriental plant, one of the oldest known to man, and developed strains most adaptable for Illinois soil.

The quick acceptance of the crop resulted from its versatility. Farmers call soybeans a "good crop." It leaves more nutrients in the soil
than it takes out.

First production of soybean oil
was in 1910 on the Pacific Coast and a few years later soybean oil was produced in a cottonseed oil mill in North Carolina.

A small flaxseed mill near Chicago Heights may have been the first Illinois producer of soybean oil in 1920. A corn milling firm in Decatur which now calls itself
the soybean capital of the world began to produce bean oil in 1922.

Only 30,000 bushels of the beans valued at $140,000, were produced in 1919. The crop jumped to 106-000 acres and 1,431,000 bushels by 1925. Ten years later it had climbed to 1,508,000 acres and 27-916,000 bushels valued at $24,129-000.

Soybeans Many Uses

By the end of World War II
Illinois farmers turned out more than 75 million bushels valued at more than 156 million dollars. This was in addition to all the beans used for hay and plowed under.

Last year the United States produced more than 372 million bushels of the beans, valued at almost 780 million dollars, for use in oil,

bean meal, food products, plastics,
paints and various other products.
More than a fourth of the crop
came from Illinois.

Ewing's records show the east-southeast section of Illinois is the heaviest soybean producer in the state. The area includes such counties as Effingham, Fayette, Moutrie, Richland and Shelby, and planted some 688,000 acres in 1934.

The southwest section followed, with almost 714,000 acres. Soybean production for hay is heaviest in the southwest section of the state.

Breed, age, and feeding practice
enter into determining beef grades. The higher grades come from well-finished steers of the beef breeds. Lower grades usually are from cows and older animals.

Fat deposits of the right kind in the right places determine the finish in grading beef. The two most important places for fat deposits are the exterior coating around muscles and deposits in the fine network of connective tissue which binds the muscle fibers together.

This is known as marbling and adds greatly to tenderness and flavor.
The exterior fat of prime, choice,
and good grades is firm and white or creamy-white. Thickness of the fat coating determines the grade.

The commercial grade has only a thin covering of yellowish fat of less firmness. Utility grade, the lowest sold as meat cuts in markets, has little fat and has lean that is dark, soft, coarse-grained and stringy.

The lean of mature prime and choice grades is bright cherry-red,
well-marbled, and fine textured.
Good grade has less marbling and lean that is slightly darker in color.
As the grade of meat lowers the lean becomes darker, coarser,
and has no marbling.

You can increase income from your oat crop by feeding it as silage.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

It has been reported that most Americans are leaving the beef fat on their dinner plates to be dumped into the garbage, and that housewives are picking the leaner cuts of meat at the self-service counters
in the nation's supermarkets.

Some of the reasons are:
Americans are increasingly calorie conscious. Fats make the calorie count go up, so why eat fat?
Neither does the taste for fat seem prevailing.

In spite of the relatively high level of dollar-income, the housewife still is price conscious when shopping for foods.

Why pay more per pound for a cut of beef having a comparatively thick covering of fat which will not be eaten when a cut appearing more lean costs less?

Supermarkets with self-service
meat counters are retailing increasing volumes of meat. In such a method of distribution the housewife has the burden of choice. She picks the cut which looks the most appealing and appears to offer the most consumable meat for the least amount of money. Less and less does the consumer deal directly with the butcher in the shop and depend upon him for advice in choosing grade or quality. Of course, store buyers tend to settle on the beef grade which has the greatest consumer acceptance.

Obviously, one of the chief difficulties facing the shopper is unfamiliarity with the characteristics of beef grades and the cuts from different parts of the beef carcass.
The most tender and the best-flavored beef is found in the prime or choice grades. These are the most expensive and usually go to the best hotels and restaurants.

The higher beef grades may not have any greater actual nutritive value than lower grades, but differences are a matter of flavor,
tenderness, and required cooking
methods.

Tender cuts may be broiled or roasted—prepared by the so-called dry-heat method—using the cut's own fat in the preparation process and retaining in the meat a larger proportion of the natural meat juices for flavor. Persons interested in flavor and tenderness must select beef with fat.

Cuts from lower grades of beef
must be pot-roasted or stewed—cooked by using moist heat. Some water is used and some of the natural flavor steams out of the meat.
However, these flavorful juices may be utilized in gravies served with the meat.

Lewis, assistant superintendent, is allowing one lot of lambs to taste a variety of feeds. To hit an early market, lambs must eat heartily and therefore must like what they eat.

The lambs may help themselves to bulk or roughage feeds, energy feeds and protein feeds. Offered for bulk are bran, ground hay and pelleted hay. For energy the choice lies between whole oats and cracked corn. Dairy feed, dairy feed pellets and soybean oil meal are available as protein feed.

In a similar trial last year, the lambs preferred whole oats to ground oats, rolled oats, cracked corn and ground ear corn. They chose soybean oil meal over linseed oil meal and cotton seed oil meal.

Whatever ration you use, Jack emphatically states that it is important to locate the crop in a well-lighted area near the place where the ewes eat.

At Farm and Home Week, Randy Beggess, Station forester, reported on his work with subsoling. This past summer a project involving deep tillage and deep placement of fertilizer was initiated at the Station. Coupled with the experiment were tests on rotations and several methods of planting corn,
such as wide-row, mulch, plow-plant
and conventional planting.

Randy, chief deep-tiller, being native of West Virginia where corn is measured in gallons, found it most troublesome to convert to the Illinois system of measuring corn in bushels. However, with extreme perseverance and assistance from Illinois cohorts, he gathered corn by dry measure and his Farm and Home Week talk on the results was both interesting and comprehensible to Illinoisans. According to his report, there was little advantage
for deep tillage in the first year.
However, of the various corn-planting methods, mulch planting looked very promising.

We shall continue to watch this work and keep you informed from time to time.

TIME OUT FOR MOTHER—These four puppies may end up
cackling instead of barking, and it wouldn't surprise owners Mr.
and Mrs. Robert Browne of Nashville, Mich. For the pups have been "adopted" by the Rhode Island hen shown with them. She moved in on the pups three weeks after they were born, and the pups' mother didn't mind a bit. She's an ardent rabbit hunter named "Belle," and when she's not fulfilling her nursing obligations she romps in the fields while the hen "puppy-sits."

More Milk For More People

Milk production at a record high 24½ billion pounds in 1935 is likely to continue increasing in the years ahead in the opinion of W.
W. Yapp, dairy specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Yapp says we've had more cows on the job producing milk in some other years, but it appears that high-quality cows fed good, balanced rations account for the high output evident in the industry today.

Great overproduction, drought or a highly successful method for making synthetic milk could halt
the present healthy trend in the nation's dairying business, but all seem unlikely.

Yapp believes the wise dairyman will increase production to meet rising demand by raising high-producing cows rather than by increasing herd numbers.

There is a law in dairying, says Yapp, stating that "As the annual yield of a cow increases, cost of producing each 100 pounds of milk she yields goes down." To illustrate, maintenance cost for a good cow is a little different than for a poor cow. And there is less labor involved in getting 100 pounds of milk from one cow than from two.

Performance records are the best guide to selecting high producers.
If records aren't available, a good pedigree and good body and udder capacity are helpful in predicting future production.

Research at the University shows
there is some gain—but not much
—in trying to pick herd replacements by palpating heifers' udders
at about four months of age.

A University of Illinois plant specialist says that the effect of cornstalk rots last year, particularly as lodged corn, ranks among the worst on record.

Graham Murder Trial Set April 16

DENVER 12 — Accused plane
saboteur John Gilbert Graham who has waived a sanity trial, will be tried on murder charges in district court here April 16.

The trial date for the 24-year-old Graham was set Friday by District Judge Joseph M. McDonald.

Graham, accused of sending his mother, Mrs. Daisy King, and 43 other persons to their death last Nov. 1, dropped his plea of innocent by reason of insanity Thursday, thus eliminating the necessity of the sanity trial which earlier had been scheduled to open March 5.

The state charged Graham with planting a time bomb aboard a United Air Lines DC-6B to kill his mother for trip insurance money.
The plane exploded in flight and crashed near Longmont, Colo., shortly after taking off from Stapleton Air Field here.

Sight Wreckage Of U. S. Transport Plane in Spain

MADRID, Spain (U. S. Air Force) — The wreckage of a U. S. Air Force transport plane missing for more than 18 hours over blizzard-swept central Spain has been sighted near the mountain town of Guadarrama, it was reported today.

First unconfirmed reports said the wreckage of the two-engine C-47, which carried a crew of six, was sighted by a search helicopter some 40 miles northwest of here. There was no mention of survivors.

The plane, on the way to Madrid from Chateauroux, France, was last heard from at 6:27 a. m. Friday. At that time, the pilot reported he was passing over the Guadarrama mountains at an altitude of 5,500 feet—some 2,400 feet less than the height of the tallest peaks in the area.

The mountains were lashed today by the worst blizzard in living memory, which considerably increased the difficulty of locating the C-47.

Believe Russia Will Join in Atoms For Peace Bank

WASHINGTON (U. S. Associated Press) — The United States today believed chances are good that Russia will join in creating a world "atoms for peace bank."

Representatives of the United States, Russia and 10 other nations will open negotiations here Monday on a proposed charter for an international atomic energy agency.

Informed sources said disputes are expected on several points, but agreement in principle is expected in about two weeks.

The atom bank would hold uranium and other fissionable materials for allocation to peaceful atomic projects. The general idea was proposed by President Eisenhower two years ago, but Russia has been delaying any action.

Russia will be represented by Ambassador Georgi Zarubin. The United States will be represented by James J. Wadsworth, deputy U. S. representative to the United Nations.

Douglas Moves Hearings To Johnston City

Jobs. Many younger men who still live in these towns drive up to 100 miles to work, and will move away when they find homes. The men over 45, more and more, are life-long workers and disqualify for work under rules of some plants, and the most serious problem, witnesses said.

Seek New Industry. Most witnesses saw attracting of new industry to the area as the solution, but civic leaders told of unsuccessful promotion efforts by "development associations" formed by the communities. Even though these associations have spent thousands of dollars, new plants employing about 250 men have been able to gain.

Lack of adequate water supply was listed as the most serious obstacle to attracting new plants, with limited rail and highway transportation, water distribution and sewer systems and lack of an industrial natural gas supply also blamed in some cases.

At Litchfield, Mayors Lewis D. Yaeger of Litchfield and Joe Long of Hillsboro said the government could aid both communities with a low-interest loan and aid for a dam of Shoal Creek, providing an 11-billion-gallon reservoir to benefit both cities.

At Benton, James F. Cannon, Gillespie executive director of the Benton-Gillespie Development Assn., and other witnesses asked government backing for water supply projects, highway improvements, school building, sewer and water systems and location of a federal prison or naval airfield in the area if proposed plans for these facilities are carried out.

Officials of nearly every town in the two-county area testified. All spoke strongly in favor of the Douglas bill and several said the amounts of money provided for the loans should be larger if the entire country is to be benefited.

Danville Man Killed In Collision While En Route to Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (U. S. Associated Press) — A. R. Boughey, 42, Danville, Ill., died in a head-on automobile collision Friday. His mother, wife and three children escaped serious injury.

The family was en route to Hollywood, Fla., for a vacation. The Boughey automobile collided with a truck. Truck driver Gilbert H. Bragley, 24, Immokalee, Fla., told police the brakes on his truck failed.

An old trunk, painted in gay colors and mounted on casters, makes a handy toy chest for the children's room.

THERE'S A MOUNTAIN OF STRENGTH

Mount Lassen in northern California towers majestically heavenward, its immense size a tremendous sight to man. It has long been considered an inactive volcano, yet it maintains an active warmth in its depth that is shared with lakes and springs at its base.

Somehow it reminds you of the towering strength of Christianity. Christianity, like Mount Lassen, is visible to all in its vicinity. It is a mountain of strength, with endless opportunities for exploring its mysteries.

Christianity imparts warmth to all who approach it. From its depths there spring rivers of living water to quench the thirst of your soul. And though each person touching this mountain should take away with him all he could carry to scatter through the world, yet its bulk will not diminish.

Gaze upon that Christianity that is like a huge mountain. Be warmed, refreshed, and strengthened through fellowship and worship each Sunday at Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Teachings on Stewardship'

GOLDEN TEXT: "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much." (Luke 16:10)

INTRODUCTION: The blessings and the talents that you have did not come to you by chance. It is no accident that you are what you are and have what you have. All your blessings and your talents are gifts from God.

The thing of importance that is too often overlooked is that we are stewards of these blessings and talents. God has given them to all of us to be used according to His will. He has the power, and perfect right, to take them all away without a moment's notice. The next time you are requested to do something for the Lord, remember that God has never asked anyone to do anything that He has not already given the talent to do that thing. Perhaps your talent will need some developing, but remember, also, that God will oversee that development.

Let's look at this parable Jesus told:

I HE TOLD THEM WHAT TO DO (VV 12-14)

This nobleman had to be away for a while. He was going to "receive for himself a kingdom, and to return." This is exactly what Jesus has done. He has gone away for a while, but one day (oh! glorious day) He will return.

This nobleman called his servants together before he left and gave each one a pound. He placed a trust with them. While he was away, each servant was responsible for what had been entrusted to him. Just so; everyone of us has been entrusted with time, talents, possessions and blessings while Jesus is away. When He returns each person will give an account of what he has done with his trust.

Notice that some of the people hated the nobleman. Just so; today there are those who have little or no regard for Jesus Christ. Nevertheless, it is our duty to remind them that they are responsible to Him.

II JUDGMENT (VV. 15-26)

Yes, each person will be held responsible for the trust placed in him. God has placed each person here on earth for a purpose. He has a purpose for your life. The tragedy is that so many people never find what that purpose is. They drift casually through life, never serving as the steward

God intended them to be. We are building our lives day by day. This building will be judged one day by the Lord. What a sad day for some.

CONCLUSION — (VV 14-26) REWARDS

Yes, each servant will be rewarded according to his capacity. In this parable which Jesus told, the Nobleman returned and rewarded his faithful servants. To the one who had been faithful with the one pound and had gained ten, Jesus gave authority over ten cities. The second had turned his one pound into five. He was given charge over five cities.

But, alas, one came and merely returned the one pound the Nobleman had given him. He had hidden it until his master returned. His master ordered that the one pound be taken away and given to the one who had ten.

So it will be when Jesus comes again. Those who have been faithful to Him with their time, talents, possessions and blessings, will be rewarded accordingly. There will be no rewards for those who have not been faithful servants. What will be your reward?

'Duster' Confident of Another Trip To Champaign by Pinckneyville Team

By BOB ULLRICH
United Press Sports Writer
PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — "Duster" Thomas is going to take a secret weapon into regional basketball tournament play next week — an antidote for stalling he believes will work for his Pinckneyville team.

"Duster" is, of course, Merrill Thomas, the silver-haired coach of Panther teams since 1939. He has taken seven teams to the state finals in the past nine years and confidently expects to make another trip to Champaign this year.

"We're not worried about anybody in regional and sectional tournaments," he said. "We're sure we can win. Oh, somebody might knock us out but we don't expect it."

Thomas' team in its regular season finale showed the reason for his confidence. His smooth-playing varsity overcame a Murphysboro stall—without using the antidote, he said—for a 35-15 win and a 24-3 season record.

Thomas' team in its regular season finale showed the reason for his confidence. His smooth-playing varsity overcame a Murphysboro stall—without using the antidote, he said—for a 35-15 win and a 24-3 season record.

Rigid Training Rules

Basketball is THE thing in this town of 3,000 population. Thomas places rigid training rules on his players—including no steady girlfriends—and parents and townspeople approve. So do the players or they wouldn't be playing for "Duster," who means business about this game of basketball.

Thomas used a pre-game conversation to squelch ever-present comments that (1) his teams come from a "farm system" set up in the grade schools and (2) his players are a "bunch of big, dumb kids."

"All of our freshman players are from country schools," he said. "Four of my starting lineup are honor students. And 29 of the last 30 varsity players I've had went on to college."

Eagles Beat Metropolis

Eldorado's Eagles made the long trip south to Metropolis Friday night and gathered in a 66-59 decision. This gives the Eagles a season's record of 14 victories and eight losses. The regular schedule closes tonight when Eldorado plays host to county rival Carrier Mills.

The Eagles jumped away to a 14-11 quarter lead, but by halftime the count was knotted at 27-27. Eldorado was again on top after three quarters 46-42 and then came up with a 20-point final frame to gain the victory. At one time in the fourth quarter the Eagles held a 12-point advantage, but had to settle for a 66-59 win.

Ronnie Clark, with 12 free throws in 13 tries, paced the Eagles with 22 points. Five of the six players seeing action scored.

Taylor of Metropolis took scoring honors for the game with 23 markers.

In the preliminary game Metropolis won 71-61.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

The Ridgway Eagles, in the midst of a losing season, drew neighboring Shawneetown, unbeaten 26 starts, for the opening game of the McLeansboro regional tournament.

Ridgway started the season short on experience and lacking height. Before the season was three games old the biggest man on the squad, Gary Dillard, senior 6-3 center, was injured and lost for the remainder of the schedule.

Coach Bob Dallas, Harrisburg native, shuffled his available manpower around all season and has fine prospects for next year, but the 1955-56 Eagles just couldn't overcome the lack of both size and experience.

For the season Ridgway won three and lost 19. Two of the victories came after the holidays and were at the expense of well-regarded outfits—Vienna and Pope County.

The Ridgway scoring punch was pretty much a two-player affair. The two seniors to play throughout the season—Don Crayne and John Mills—scored more than half of the total points.

Ridgway scored a total of 1,228. Mills accounted for 374 and Crayne 363. A couple of boys that will be counted on for next year—Lawler and Clifford—had 171 and 103 respectively.

"If I ever took a team to play at Pinckneyville, the players wouldn't enter the gymnasium through the front," declared Shawneetown Coach Darwin Valtor today. "It's a shock most boys would have trouble overcoming! It's 'cold warfare,'" Valtor declared.

Valtor added that of course he was only kidding, but the trophy case at Pinckneyville is the biggest, most filled, and best lighted he has seen. "It's bound to have some effect on a team to parade past that case filled with trophies and to know that it wouldn't be long until you were going to face one of the teams that had been responsible for a part of the fine collection," stated Valtor.

Eldorado's football schedule for the 1956 season is now complete, Coach Al Adams revealed this week. The Eagles will meet Anna, McLeansboro, Harrisburg, Christopher, Carmi, West Frankfort, Cairo, Benton and Metropolis in that order.

Missing from last year's schedule are Marion and Fairfield and added are Christopher and Metropolis. The Christopher contract is only for this season, with Johnston City being on the Eagle schedule in 1957.

Equality, another high school team in the area that began the season without experience or size, is paired with the team undoubtedly rated number two in the McLeansboro regional.

Locals Climb Out of South Seven Cellar; Play At Johnston City Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs climbed out of the South Seven conference cellar last night by beating the Red Birds at West Frankfort, 53 to 48.

The Bull Dogs hit at a 470 clip from the field to knock off Frankfort. That was good shooting. However, at the free throw line the locals hit a miserable five out of 18 while Frankfort was making 13 out of 23. Little Griffin, smallest regular in the South Seven, made nine without missing.

But in the field goal department Harrisburg was tops, as Frankfort could make but 15 out of 47. They also were tops in the rebounding department.

Tonight the locals travel to Johnston City to wind up the regular season prior to meeting Eldorado Monday night in the first session of the McLeansboro tourney. The Indians have been going great of late. The Bull Dogs won an earlier tilt.

Top Benton in Standings

The locals displayed a balanced attack last night in winning the game that put them above Benton in the South Seven standings, as all six men who got into the fray got in on the job. The locals made some bad mistakes when a Frankfort press was put on for a second time with three minutes and ten seconds to go, but the press also enabled the locals to make three or four easy buckets.

After the opening couple of minutes, Harrisburg never trailed Frankfort during the game except for midway in the second quarter when the Red Birds went ahead at 20-19. The Bull Dogs took over quickly, however, to run the lead to 27-22 at halftime.

The third quarter was a slow one, with Frankfort making only one field goal and Harrisburg three, as the locals outscored Coach George Lubelt's team, 8 to 7. In the closing minute of this frame West Frankfort went into a press which didn't work, as it left Tony Beal open for a basket.

West Rockford Turns Back East, 73-61; Herrin And Mount Vernon Win

By United Press
Most Illinois basketball teams wound up their regular seasons Friday night, and winners were determined at 41 district tournaments, the first round in the Illinois high school basketball championship chase.

Rockford West completed its schedule by winning its 19th of 20 games. West, the 1955 champion and picked to repeat in 1956, turned back an upset-minded Rockford East quintet 73-61.

Herrin, the state's third-ranked club, romped to a 62-36 victory over Benton, making its record 24-2. Mount Vernon, which won once and lost once to Herrin during the regular season and is ranked seventh in the state, was too much for Murphysboro, 71-51.

Moline and Rock Island finished on strong winning notes, the Maroons pulverizing Monmouth 91-24, and Rock Island battering Kewanee 87-45. Galesburg, ranked fourth and beaten only twice all season, was too much for East Moline and won handily 65-31.

Effingham St. Anthony, with only 1 defeat in 26 games, closed its season 60-53 over St. Elmo.

Tie for Big 12 Title

Peoria Central and Lincoln tied for the Big 12 Conference championship, the Lions pulling away from a stalling Springfield club to a 56-33 triumph, and the Railsplitters outscoring Pekin 73-57.

In suburban play, fast-closing Skokie Niles dumped Waukegan 54-45. Maywood Proviso got back in form with a 76-62 victory over

Scoring Orgy by Hawks, Warriors

By United Press

Five points a minute — that's the dizzy pace a quartet of National Basketball Assn. teams set up in the wildest scoring orgy in the history of Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

When it was all over, a sellout crowd of 9,878 had seen the St. Louis Hawks down the Syracuse Nationals, 116-103, and the Philadelphia Warriors defeat the Boston Celtics, 125-129. It added up to a total of 483 points in 96 minutes of playing time — 5.03 per minute.

Bob Pettit of the Hawks was the individual star, equalling the current season NBA high of 46 points. That total cracked the Convention Hall record of 45 points by Neil Johnston and Pettit's 17 field goals in 34 tries equalled Bill Sharman's floor field goal mark.

In the nightcap of the double-header, the Warriors bettered their own floor mark of 134 points with Joe Graboski tallying 35, Paul Arizin 29, Johnston 23 and Tom Gola 20. Sharman tossed in 33 for the Celtics, making 12 field goals and nine of 11 free throws.

Carrier Mills Beats Rosiclar Bears, 76 to 69

Carrier Mills travelled to Rosiclar Friday evening and picked up victory number 15 for the season by beating the pressing Bears 76-69.

The decision gives the two teams an even break in their home-and-home schedule. In the season's opener Nov. 4 Rosiclar won at Carrier Mills 76-70.

Rosiclar, pressing all over the floor, got away to a 22-18 first quarter lead, but after that Carrier Mills managed to hold the scoring edge in the middle two quarters and stay about even in the final.

The Rosiclar press continued throughout the battle and worked to the advantage of both clubs. Occasionally Rosiclar's goal was left unprotected to give Carrier Mills layups and other times Rosiclar was able to steal away the ball and score on layups.

Fitts had a good first half for the winners, counting 17 points in the first two quarters and Oliver Rollins picked up the scoring load as the last half got underway, scoring eight field goals in the third quarter.

In the third frame Carrier Mills lost two regulars, Jim Reid and Vern Rollins, via the foul route and the CM game was slowed down during the final frame.

Going into the last quarter with a 69-59 lead and without the services of V. Rollins and Reid, Coach Shelton had his boys play a deliberate type game. Only eight shots were taken during the quarter. Carrier Mills scored seven points and Rosiclar 10 for a combined total that didn't equal individual team totals in other quarters.

Tonight Carrier Mills travels to Eldorado for the season's final for both teams.
